Notarize

What is Notarize? Notarize is a remote electronic notary service. Valid in all 50 US states and the District of Columbia, Notarize offers unparalleled convenience for consumers looking to notarize a document online at any time and from any location. The Virginia Notary Act authorizes electronic notarizations via live video call with Electronic Notary Publics. Notarize leverages this and other laws to offer an iPhone application for customers to obtain notarized documents electronically.

Electronic notarizations completed by Notarize offer an unprecedented level of verifiability. Notarize documents have a X509 security certificate enabling institutions to confirm the authenticity by opening a digital copy of the document in widely available programs like Adobe Acrobat. Institutions may retrieve a digital copy and, if ever a document is disputed, they may also verify the notarization by accessing a video recording of the transaction per the instructions on the preceding page.

In accordance with the governing statutes, all Notarize clients' photo IDs are validated, all transactions are recorded and verifiable, and all notarizations are completed by licensed Electronic Notary Public agents via digital video technology, ensuring a safer and more secure form of notarization.

How is Notarize legal in California? In 2011, the Commonwealth of Virginia passed Senate Bill 827 and House Bill 2318, allowing appropriately certified Virginia notaries to complete remote notarization via live video call. Furthermore, a document remotely notarized in Virginia is valid across state lines due to the Full Faith and Credit Clause of the United States Constitution in addition to a patchwork of state laws that specifically address and accept out of state notarizations.

California specifically recognizes out of state Notarizations pursuant to Section 1189(b) of the California Civil Code, which states that "Any certificate of acknowledgment taken in another place shall be sufficient in this state if it is taken in accordance with the laws of the place where the acknowledgment is made."

How is Notarize legal in Delaware? In 2011, the Commonwealth of Virginia passed Senate Bill 827 and House Bill 2318, allowing appropriately certified Virginia notaries to complete remote notarization via live video call. Furthermore, a document remotely notarized in Virginia is valid across state lines due to the Full Faith and Credit Clause of the United States Constitution in addition to a patchwork of state laws that specifically address and accept out of state notarizations.

Delaware recognizes out of state Notarizations pursuant to Del. Code Ann. Tit. 29 § 4324, which states, in the relevant part, that “(a) A notarial act has the same effect under the law of this State as if performed by a notarial officer of this state, if performed in another state, commonwealth, territory, district or possession of the United States by any of the following persons: (1) A notary public of that jurisdiction... (e) A document notarized by a notary public or other person referenced in this section above, which appears on its face to be properly notarized, shall be presumed to have been notarized properly in accordance with the laws and regulations of the jurisdiction within the United States in which the document was notarized.”
